The Juniors were involved in many activities this year. As individuals many people in the class of 1980 were involved with "good posture, and eyes on copy," in typing class. While in history/government classes, Mr. John Welch had everyone fretting over essay tests.

Individual efforts count also, such as their leisure time. Almost the entire class was involved in holding up the hall walls while conversing with classmates.

The Juniors were uniquely united during the canned food drive. In the beginning they lagged behind with a measly 35 lbs. Secretly they gathered together 1460 lbs. Various Junior representatives threw pies at government president Allen Miller, class advisor Mr. John Welch, Junior class president Doug Lorain, student body president Scott Ramp, and vice principal Mr. Earl Ingle.

The Juniors dedicated the first Roger Werner Day December 14th based on the fact that Roger Werner wore two different shoes to school one day. Government class president, Allen Miller declared the special day. Miller decreed that on this day all Juniors should wear mismatched shoes. Vicky Peasley said, "the Roger Werner Day was tremendous success."

1) Roger Werner Day becomes a new National Holiday. 2) Vicky Peasley concentrates on her reading. 3) Algebra II students pay attention to the teacher.

The Sophomore Class Holds Dance Marathon

The Sophomore class did a number of money-making projects to support their class. During basketball season they held the second annual dance marathon which proved to be as successful as in the past. The class also held a cake raffle during two lunch periods.

For most, the change from grade school to high school has been fairly easy. A common fear that freshmen first experience is walking down a hall alone. Walking with a friend makes them at ease. Science and English classes were the most difficult courses. Still, most will agree that high school is fun, and Mary Miller summed it up, "this has been the best year I've ever had!"

The class of 1982 started off the year by receiving an award from the rally squad for having the most spirit and participation at football games. They fought a tough battle during the canned food drive, bringing in 325 pounds of goods. Money-making projects for the year included the sale of heart-o-grams.
